RFA for Identifying Autism Susceptibility Genes: Who’s Who

Public sector funding partners for RFA

National Institutes of Health (NIH): $7 million over five years

*Institutes involved: National Institute of Mental Health (lead agency); National Institute of Child Health and Human Development; National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders; National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke; National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences

Health Research Board (HRB)/Republic of Ireland:

$6.1 million over five years*

Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR):

$1.25 million over five years*

*Institutes involved: Institute of Neurosciences, Mental Health & Addiction; Institute of Human Development, Child & Youth Health; Institute of Genetics

Private sector funding partners for RFA

National Alliance for Autism Research (NAAR):

$6.5 million over five years

Cure Autism Now Foundation (CAN): $500,000 over five years

Southwest Autism Research and Resource Center (SARRC):

$100,000 over five years

(through a restricted gift to NAAR)

Total funding: $21.3 million over five years

*Estimated commitment in US dollars