

00:00:00:00 - 00:00:42:01

Matthew Leach

A few years later, here in 2003 feeling I decided to write another book. We wanted a children's book so that younger kids would be able to understand what autism is without throwing big words that they would not understand. So we decided to make a very loosely inspired story about our experience in the baby.

00:00:44:08 - 00:01:03:24

Eileen Lamb

Welcome to Adulting on the Spectrum. In this podcast, we want to highlight the real voices of autistic adults, not just inspirational stories, but people like us talking about their day to day life. Basically, we want to give a voice to a variety of autistic people. I am Eileen Lamb an autistic author and photographer. And I co-host this podcast with Andrew Camera.

00:01:04:01 - 00:01:28:02

Andrew Komarow

Andrew Hey Eileen, I'm Andrew Komarow, a recovering certified financial planner, autistic entrepreneur and the funnier co-host of this podcast. Today our guest is Matthew Leach. Matthew is currently a senior at University of Kentucky. He majored in biology and plans to further his education by going to graduate school and getting a master's degree in forensic science. His favorite things to do are reading. Going to the movies. Spending time with his French bulldog, Chloe. He coauthored See Abel, not the label and Frankie and Fin. He also shared his personal journey with autism on his podcast called Puzzle in Progress with his sister. Welcome. Thank you for joining us.

00:01:46:01 - 00:01:51:13

Matthew Leach

Thank you for having me here. It's all right. I just want to say it's an honor to be on here with you guys.

00:01:52:04 - 00:01:54:07

Andrew Komarow

Thank you. Have you listen to our podcast before?

00:01:55:02 - 00:01:57:06

Matthew Leach

I have not. I probably should.

00:01:57:18 - 00:02:20:06

Andrew Komarow

It's quite all right. I. So we like to ask each guest how they prefer to identify. And we don't mean per. You don't mean she her pronouns. Although he them. Although you're welcome to share those as well. We mean autistic on the spectrum. You don't care? Don't have a preference. Is there any way you choose to be identified if you had a preference?

00:02:20:16 - 00:02:35:13

Matthew Leach

Well, if I had a preference, I would say I'm on the spectrum because since it is a spectrum, everyone is different. So you can't just label someone, Oh, they have autism, you know, because it's different for everyone. So that's how I would see it.

00:02:37:02 - 00:02:55:05

Eileen Lamb

My lone dissenter. Well, that's really good. I, I prefer to be. I don't. I don't if I was on the spectrum, too, if I had to choose. Really, I don't I don't care. But some for the same reasons as you. And I think it's the first time someone mentioned these reasons for it. So. So thank you.

00:02:55:23 - 00:02:57:15

Matthew Leach

Well, thank you.

00:02:57:15 - 00:03:17:12

Eileen Lamb

And the first real question we have for you, though, that was a great question and answer is can you tell us about your autism diagnosis journey? Like, how old were you when you were diagnosed? What were the signs? And I know you were young when you were diagnosed, so it's probably from what your parents told you. What can you share about this?

00:03:18:01 - 00:03:41:07

Matthew Leach

So what I have been told was when I was about two years old, I was nonverbal and I wasn't developing quite as well as other children my age, Most children my age would have been walking, talking, and I was walking, but I wasn't quite talking. I was able to communicate, just not through words, but I would stand around on my tiptoes.

00:03:41:07 - 00:04:06:19

Matthew Leach

I would spin around in circles. But one thing that Hayley and the rest of my family can say is I would get frustrated because I couldn't be able to talk and I would take it out on inanimate objects to try and convey a message. If I was angry, I would knock the books off Hayley shelves. But that was my way of saying I'm I'm mad, I'm sad, You know, something's not right.

00:04:07:14 - 00:04:34:06

Matthew Leach

You know, after they started seeing this, they took me to Cincinnati Children's Hospital. I got in touch with Dr. Susan Wylie, and they diagnosed with autism when I was 18 months old, give or take correctly to and from then on, it's just been a journey. Not for just me, but my sister, my parents, our family. In fact, the whole community has kind of contributed in my journey.

00:04:36:01 - 00:04:39:15

Eileen Lamb

So when did you learn about your autism diagnosis?

00:04:40:00 - 00:05:03:24

Matthew Leach

Well, the thing is, I was told that I was autistic when I was very young. But when I truly learned to understand what it meant was when I was seven. So I was in Applied Behavioral therapy for most of my life up until about seven years old. I would go to school and then after school I would go down to Cincinnati for Applied Behavioral Therapy.

00:05:04:12 - 00:05:31:09

Matthew Leach

But the thing is, the other kids in the therapy, I knew they were different and I knew that I wasn't quite like everyone else in school, but at the same time I wasn't quite like them. So I basically asked my parents and my therapist, you know, what's going on and they sat down and explained to me that, you know, you're on the autism spectrum, and because of that, you know, everyone is different.

00:05:31:16 - 00:05:39:00

Matthew Leach

Some are higher up, some are lower. And it's it was the first time that it really opened my eyes.

00:05:40:02 - 00:06:05:01

Andrew Komarow

Do you think so? You have a from when you were about five to you were about seven, right. And then you were able to transition to a, you know, mainstream school without having a therapy. Do you credit ABA with being able to do that? And what do you think? ABA You know, helped you accomplish that you might not have accomplished otherwise?

00:06:05:16 - 00:06:31:08

Matthew Leach

So when I was going through ABA therapy, I was going through multiple therapy fees. I was going through speech music and basic social interactions and how to interact with kids my age. So I would be listening to music. It was to help opened me up and learn how to speak. Because when they first started giving me the therapy, they made me sing.

00:06:31:08 - 00:06:56:19

Matthew Leach

They would make me sing my name one, two, three, ABCD and stuff like that. And then they would move on to just me speaking it and I like to credit it for helping me become who I am. I really had nothing negative about it, you know, I like to think of it as a helpful guide for people on the spectrum to help transition into a normal life.

00:06:57:09 - 00:06:59:16

Matthew Leach

In fact, I think it's a wonderful thing.

00:07:00:03 - 00:07:16:03

Eileen Lamb

I know my son is on the spectrum. Well, both of my sons are, but one of them has been in therapy since he was two. And he said no. And without a yeah, I don't think he would have learned to communicate. He's still non-verbal, but he can communicate with on the app on his iPad now and a C device.

00:07:16:03 - 00:07:40:02

Eileen Lamb

And I'm so, so thankful for it. And you know, there's a lot of negativity online about ABA. And hearing stories like yours is just it's nice. It's it's refreshing. So I so that's a you you're getting a you want to get a master's degree in forensic science. Do you love watching true crime shows?

00:07:41:08 - 00:08:10:02

Matthew Leach

Yes. Haley can tell you it's almost of a family tradition that whenever we go on a trip somewhere, no matter how short of the trip, we have to watch something like Forensic Files. It was just something interesting that I took an interest in when I was in high school. We had a career in tech building, and one of the courses that they offered there was biomedical classes in forensics.

00:08:10:02 - 00:08:35:17

Matthew Leach

And I took both of them and they introduced me to working in a lab and combine that with my interest in watching shows like that, it kind of made me choose my career path. And I'm still working in a lab today in my college classes, and it's just something I enjoy doing and I feel like I can actually accomplish something with it.

00:08:36:12 - 00:08:44:19

Andrew Komarow

What is your what I do you like true crime or do you also like, you know, fictional as well? Like, you know, Dexter obviously comes to mind.

00:08:45:01 - 00:09:05:09

Matthew Leach

I will say I like anything involved in crime because I just think it's amazing to think that you can solve an entire case just by simply the smallest bit of evidence, you know, the tiniest bit of DNA can link it back to someone that at the time probably didn't think that they could be caught by doing something like this.

00:09:05:17 - 00:09:10:08Matthew Leach

You know, that's what's fascinating to me. And I want to get involved in that kind of field.

00:09:11:19 - 00:09:34:19Eileen Lamb

Solving like cold cases and all of that using DNA. And yeah, it's it's fascinating. We have a great show about this and it's in French, so I can't recommend it. But they've been solving cases like as old as 40, 50 years old. And it just blows my mind, like, how is that even possible? I'm sure you know more behind it than than I do.

00:09:35:12 - 00:09:46:16Eileen Lamb

Are you good at math, too? Because, you know, there is that cliché about autistic people that they're good at math and science. And I'm just wondering, since you like science, you also like math.

00:09:47:20 - 00:10:05:24Matthew Leach

It depends on what kind of math I'm doing. If I'm doing algebra, no problem. Geometry, no problem. But calculus is more theoretical math and stuff like that. It's harder for me to take a grasp on, you know, I'm good in some areas, but not in every area.

00:10:09:02 - 00:10:26:22Andrew Komarow

What made you and your sister start a podcast together? I know what made me and Eileen start a podcast together. I said, Eileen, you want to do a podcast? And then I did. I was pretty much, Well, no, I think I had a bug show a bunch to convince you, but yeah, Anyway, how did you guys start a podcast?

00:10:27:24 - 00:10:51:03Matthew Leach

So to start this all, Hailey and I have been advocating for many years. I think we started advocating when I was in middle school and Hailey was in her first year of high school. I was having some bullying at my middle school and Hailey didn't want to get mad per se at my classmates. She just simply wanted them to understand what was happening.

00:10:51:18 - 00:11:20:12

Matthew Leach

Hailey was in the future community of clay for her high school, and she took it upon herself to go into my classrooms and educate us and everyone on what autism is and what people on the spectrum go through. But to answer your question, we've been doing this for many years. Most of the time we simply would go to events, do some public speaking.

We also wrote two books which you to know. Frankie and Finn and KD able not to label. Well, about a year ago, Hailey and I were talking about how we could get our message out even further, and I simply was thinking about podcasts, doing podcasts an excellent way nowadays to get your message out and I was talking with Hailey and said, Why don't we do a podcast and the two of us co-hosts?

And it's just been a wonderful journey from there. Alaina I feel like we're finally giving back to the community.

00:11:58:23 - 00:12:07:13

Eileen Lamb

So you guys have a guest, or is it just the two of you? Like, what's the format like and are you in the same room or through Zoom?

00:12:07:13 - 00:12:27:07

Matthew Leach

So for those of you that don't know, Hailey and I go to two separate schools in two separate states, I go to the University of Kentucky, and Hailey is going to WashU in Saint Louis, Missouri. So Hailey and I usually do a Zoom meeting like what we're doing right now. And it depends on what we're wanting to talk about.

00:12:27:09 - 00:12:59:15

Matthew Leach

The first two episodes are actually three episodes. It consisted of Hailey's perspective, my perspective, and then our parents perspective. But from there on, we invite guests. One of the guests was Dr. Wiley. We did a podcast with you. We also did one for a autism walk that's happening in Saint Louis in October. And we're hoping to get more professionals that know about autism and have connections to other organizations.

00:12:59:15 - 00:13:16:02

Matthew Leach

I think I did a Zoom meeting with different brains. It would be a wonderful idea to have those people on our podcast and to have their perspective on the whole situation.

00:13:16:02 - 00:13:30:09

Eileen Lamb

In the same vein, you and Hailey wrote some books together, and was that the same reason why you started the podcast? Can you tell me about that journey, you know, writing books? I mean, that's that's difficult. I know firsthand.

00:13:31:10 - 00:13:59:10

Matthew Leach

Well, Hailey and I worked on this together. This was very much a team effort. So the first book see, the label, not the label, is a nonfiction account, and it takes both of our perspectives. It talks about Hailey having to explain to everyone what autism is. This is my brother. This is what he has to go through. And I have a perspective in there that explains how what it felt like to be on the spectrum.

00:13:59:10 - 00:14:29:17

Matthew Leach

When I was a kid and we made it on Shutterfly II and we would donate it to like our elementary school. We also donated a copy to the Cincinnati Children's Hospital for everyone to read. But a few years later, in 2023, and I decided to write another book. We wanted a children's book so that younger kids would be able to understand what autism is without throwing big words that they would not understand.

00:14:30:12 - 00:15:01:08

Matthew Leach

So we decided to make a very loosely inspired story about our experience, and I decided to incorporate a dog into the story then. So Frankie, I would like to say, is our interpretation of how I was as a young boy. And Finn is the friend that everyone on the spectrum and everyone else that's not on the spectrum needs a friend that's understanding, a friend that's always there to help them during their difficult times.

00:15:03:05 - 00:15:13:00

Andrew Komarow

So the book is designed more for the people who don't have autism than the people who do, right? Like the peers who may not understand.

00:15:13:00 - 00:15:30:01

Matthew Leach

So that Hailey and I wanted to to convey the message that just because someone is different does not automatically make them a bad thing. We want them to understand, to accept them.

00:15:30:01 - 00:15:43:22

Andrew Komarow

So just changing topics completely randomly. I never do that. A French bulldog, Chloe is your only pet. Do you have others? And how did you come up with the name Chloe?

00:15:45:10 - 00:15:47:09

Matthew Leach

So Chloe.

00:15:47:09 - 00:15:47:24

Andrew Komarow

Is a French.

00:15:47:24 - 00:16:08:14

Matthew Leach

Bulldog and I would like to say she's not our first French bulldog. I would like to say that we're kind of obsessed with them. We've had four, but Chloe is just the current one that we have, and Chloe is a very French name, and we figured it kind of fits. We got a French bulldog. Why not just give it a French name?

00:16:08:14 - 00:16:36:09

Matthew Leach

So that's where we picked Chloe. It was a very feminine French name. But the thing is, I would like to just say they're very wonderful companion dogs. They know when you're happy, when you're sad. So one minute they can be very energetic, another minute they can be very lazy. And just a good dog to pet and whatnot. But it really helped me on dealing with some of my harder times.

00:16:36:17 - 00:16:41:01

Matthew Leach

You know, I have a I have a dog there that understands how I'm feeling.

00:16:42:12 - 00:16:51:15

Andrew Komarow

So even though Eileen is autistic, so she probably wouldn't understand how you're feeling, what is the chance because she's French, that you will name your next dog, Eileen.

00:16:54:12 - 00:17:21:23

Matthew Leach

I don't know. It just depends on what you know. Every dog has a specific characteristic interest rate, so like to say, you know, it's just not automatically, oh, I'm going to name the dog, that sometimes it's personality. Sometimes the personality helps build on what you're going to name on. But I would like to say Eileen would be a good name for a French bulldog.

00:17:21:23 - 00:17:46:04

Eileen Lamb

You're certainly in college majoring in biology. Do you have any tips for those on the spectrum? Also in college, like do you need any accommodation? You know, I pretty high functioning and I try going to college three years in a row in France and I could never do it. I had no accommodation, so I had to get my degree online.

00:17:47:04 - 00:17:55:14

Eileen Lamb

And I'm wondering if there are any additions that you're getting right now that makes it easier for you to be able to attend in person?

00:17:56:20 - 00:18:27:11

Matthew Leach

Well, to answer your question, I, I don't have any accommodations. And before I go further into the topic, I did have accommodations when I was in high school, in middle school, but ever since I entered freshman year of high school, my teachers and my parents and I tried to wean me off meeting the accommodations. They tried to get me to do it the normal way, you know, go to class every day, do it the same way.

00:18:27:20 - 00:18:51:17

Matthew Leach

And I'm thankful for that because it truly made me understand, you know, what college is going to be like and how to success fully thrive in it. And I just would like to say some of the tips that I would give is if you're going to college in general, I would suggest you do direct your required classes first to get those out of the way.

And then after you have your required courses done, go into courses that you enjoy doing. Another thing that I would actually highly suggest people on the spectrum to do when you do go to college, find clubs that you enjoy, and when you do join the clubs, try and interact with everyone you know. You have a safe topic to talk about.

Whatever club you're in, it's a topic you can start off on, but once you get to know them or try to change the topics, you know, try and talk about stuff that normally you would not ask someone to talk about, you know, what is your interest or how come you like doing this? What makes it interesting for you?

And then they can ask you something and you can tell them, Well, I enjoy doing this. You know, it really helps with socializing in general, and I think it's a very useful, useful skill to use.

00:19:53:04 - 00:20:19:08

Andrew Komarow

So I'm going to challenge you a little bit and say that essentially a your or your your suggestions for college are don't act like an autistic person and do things that you're not interested in and socialize or use in socialize more. Is there in that, you know, struggle and even though you can ask for help you know don't and I know those that wasn't what you meant.

00:20:20:16 - 00:20:34:00

Andrew Komarow

But are you saying that there's, you know, something you know, wrong if somebody just wants to not socialize, that if they wanted to just focus on the things that interest and you're just saying what worked for you, correct?

00:20:34:24 - 00:20:56:20

Matthew Leach

Exactly. I'm not saying it works one, because like I said, everyone on the spectrum is different. You know, what works for me might not work for you or anyone else, but I would like to say that this is how I took it into consideration. When I went into college for my first day, I was overwhelmed. I didn't know what I was doing.

00:20:56:20 - 00:21:22:08

Matthew Leach

I had 300 people in the same room. You know, pencils are tapping on the desk. I'm in a strange room. I'm surrounded by hundreds of people that I don't know about, and it overwhelms me on my first day. But I would like to say that, you know, I, I basically just went into a room for a minute and basically said, you know, you got this, you've made it this far.

00:21:22:08 - 00:21:45:21

Matthew Leach

You're only going to strive and go further from here. You know, this is the hardest thing about college. You got nothing to worry about. So I would like to say that, you know, I'm I'm used to all the chaos that is college and it's a it's a struggle to get used to it. But once you understand it, it becomes easier.

00:21:45:21 - 00:22:04:02

Matthew Leach

No, thank you for that. And and I do think it's really good to, you know, reconsider what, you know, quote, either accommodation somebody might need you know, because maybe I don't need them. It's good to struggle a little bit, you know how it all so somebody's got to learn if they don't try something new. So I can totally agree with that.

00:22:04:02 - 00:22:04:11

Matthew Leach

Thank you.

00:22:05:16 - 00:22:18:10

Matthew Leach

You're welcome. I just figured that, you know, there's nothing wrong with asking for help if you need it, If you feel like you don't need it, try it out. And if it doesn't work out for you, use the help that's available to you.

00:22:19:14 - 00:22:39:08

Hayley Leach

And can I can jump in here, Matthew, Maybe something you want to talk about is the conversation you had with mom and dad and with your teachers during your senior year as to if you wanted those accommodations and how you made that decision for yourself. And in times where you have struggled a little bit with, you know, you've gotten tutoring and some of those things, too, to kind of help.

00:22:39:08 - 00:22:45:15

Hayley Leach

So I agree. Accommodations look a little bit different and maybe you can, you know, expand on that a little bit. Matthew.

00:22:46:10 - 00:23:09:00

Matthew Leach

So like Haley said, during my senior year of high school, I was given the option and, you know, you still want these accommodations when you go to college. I really sat down, thought on it, but I figured, you know, if I am going to earn my degree, I want to at least try to get it the right way, the traditional way.

00:23:09:10 - 00:23:30:12

Matthew Leach

But I did say, you know, if I need accommodation in this, at least let me know how to get it. So I went through my first year of college, no trouble. But when I entered my sophomore year of school and started taking higher level classes such as chemistry, that's when I started to have some trouble. And Haley is right.

00:23:30:13 - 00:23:54:21

Matthew Leach

I got tutoring. I went to study sessions. I tried to do everything that I could do better, and I have. And it's just been a bit of a struggle. But then again, just about everyone that goes to college has a struggling year, semester or two. But it's been a journey and it's a journey that I'm glad that I took.

00:23:54:21 - 00:24:10:05

Eileen Lamb

You at least seem very, very close. And I know you do a lot of advocacy together. Can you talk a little bit about your advocacy journey with your sister and like, how far apart are you? How many years?

00:24:10:21 - 00:24:34:08

Matthew Leach

Okay, well, Haley and I are two and maybe three months apart in age. So Haley and I are fairly close in age together and I would like to say that in a way we've been advocating for me ever since I was diagnosed. She would help me in times that I needed help. And in a way, I helped her become who she is today.

00:24:35:08 - 00:25:06:03

Matthew Leach

But to answer your question, we started our advocacy during middle school. Like I said earlier, that I was being bullied and Haley and I wanted everyone to understand what was going on. And I will say things did get better. Everyone started to understand what I was going through and I opened my shell line. I became more outgoing. I started to interact with people more because now they understood what I was going through and in return I was learning everything from them.

00:25:06:24 - 00:25:36:03

Matthew Leach

But Haley has been advocating for me ever since I was a kid. She's been doing it in both ACL and in her beauty pageants. She's always tried to get the message out on bullying and autism. So Haley is currently in Miss Missouri and one of her platforms is promoting autism. She goes to multiple organizations and meetings every day and she tries to advocate for the platform.

00:25:36:18 - 00:26:01:08

Matthew Leach

And I like to think that I'm there helping her, even though I'm not physically there to help. I'm always helping my sister in her field, and Haley is always helping me during my times of struggle. So Haley and I have done many things together. We've written two books, we've found it a podcast, and we've actually been invited to a few events.

00:26:01:08 - 00:26:27:16

Matthew Leach

In fact, about a month ago, Haley and I went to an autism walk and we both did public speaking, and it was a little nervous for me given that we're talking in front of a large crowd. But I feel like I was giving something back to the autism community. You know, when I was a kid, my parents had little to no information on what autism is and if there was any hope for people like me.

00:26:28:10 - 00:26:45:03

Matthew Leach

And since I've basically accomplished the job, I, I feel like it's my time to give back to not just the people on the spectrum, but the families, and to let them know that there is a chance and that there is hope for their loved ones.

00:26:45:12 - 00:27:04:01

Andrew Komarow

So what organization sponsored the walk that you did? Autism Speaks I didn't know the answer to that question before I asked. By the way, I was genuinely curious How do you decide what organizations to support or, you know, not support?

00:27:04:20 - 00:27:24:12

Matthew Leach

So some organizations actually reach out to Haley and I. Some of them will reach out to Haley and then Haley will basically bring me into the loop and we talk with them and basically say, you know, yes, we would like to come to this event or would you like to come on our podcast or we would be more than happy to come on to yours.

00:27:25:11 - 00:27:47:13

Matthew Leach

And I like the fact that, you know, now we're we're able to get our message out. You know, it feels very impactful. Haley and I are basically from a small rural town in Kentucky, and now we're helping major organizations across the country and promoting autism.

Eileen Lamb

Speaking of, it's your chance now to anything you'd want to promote, like your social media links, books, which we've talked about. Anything you can you can tell us.

00:28:01:06 - 00:28:29:16

Matthew Leach

Well, I would just like to let you all know Haley and I's podcast puzzles in Progress is available on Spotify and iTunes. Our book See the Label and Not the Label and Frankincense are both available on Amazon, Barnes Noble, Books-a-million and Waterstones, which is based in Great Britain. So it's an international book now and our very excited. We never thought it would get that far.

00:28:30:15 - 00:28:33:22

Eileen Lamb

So awesome. How about social media through on the show, your social media?

00:28:35:10 - 00:29:06:01

Matthew Leach

Well, Haley has a social media account. She has both a TikTok and an Instagram account for Miss Missouri. She posts content both on urban Miss Missouri, but more importantly, on autism. I have a social media account. It's Matthew Thomas Leach and I don't really post on it, but if you follow me and Haley, we would be more than happy to have a contact.

00:29:09:04 - 00:29:18:21

Eileen Lamb

To wrap this up, I'm going to ask you some quickfire questions. So, Betsy, can you just tell me the first answer that comes to your mind? Like one or two words? Are you ready favorite animal?

00:29:19:02 - 00:29:19:14

Matthew Leach

Elephant?

00:29:20:11 - 00:29:24:00

Eileen Lamb

Oh, I said you were going to say French bulldog, trick me.

00:29:24:22 - 00:29:26:08

Andrew Komarow

Would you have a pet elephant if you could?

00:29:26:08 - 00:29:26:20

Matthew Leach

If you could.

00:29:31:20 - 00:29:33:15

Eileen Lamb

Favorite TV detective.

00:29:33:18 - 00:29:40:16

Matthew Leach

I don't have a personal favorite. All of them are my favorites, too. To tell you the truth.

00:29:40:17 - 00:29:43:13

Eileen Lamb

Who is your favorite singer or band musician?

00:29:44:01 - 00:29:52:09

Matthew Leach

Oh, that's a good one. If I had to choose, my favorite band would probably be as shocking as it is .AC/DC

00:29:52:09 - 00:29:55:17

Eileen Lamb

Favorite fictional crime show.

00:29:57:02 - 00:29:59:06

Matthew Leach

Fictional crime show, Dexter.

00:29:59:24 - 00:30:03:20

Eileen Lamb

Well, and favorite food.

00:30:03:20 - 00:30:06:13

Eileen Lamb

Favorite Food. Steak.

00:30:08:00 - 00:30:14:19

Eileen Lamb

That's probably mine too. That's awesome. Well, Matthew, thank you so much for joining us today. It was so great chatting with you.

00:30:15:14 - 00:30:18:03

Matthew Leach

It was a pleasure being on here. Thank you so much.

00:30:19:01 - 00:30:22:01

Andrew Komarow

Thank you. Thank you for coming.
